

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A piping connector is disclosed. The connector comprises pipes and connection body, and ejector for ejecting water, characterized in that the two ends of the connection body are provided with threaded face for locking with 5 an arch shaped threaded cap passed through the pipes for connection, the rim face at the connection end of the pipe is provided with a positioning hole for the insertion of a positioning rim for engagement with the threaded cap, together with the mounting of a sealing rim and a pad, the connection of the piping connector is secured.